Subject: Notice of Public Exposure: Your Copyright Theft is Now Public
Wendell,
You might want to check the official Google AI Developers Forum right now. The entire tech community is watching you and your forum commit intellectual property theft.
Here is the link where your fake UI deletions and backend data hoarding are fully exposed to the public:
https://discuss.ai.google.dev/t/escalation-update-censorship-on-downstream-forums-level1techs/180017
You tried to silence me by placing my account on hold, but you illegally kept my copyrighted images and data active on your backend Linode servers. The world can now see your absolute hypocrisy. You are literally defending Google by committing the exact same data fraud and censorship on your own platform.
My 24-hour legal deadline for you to completely and physically purge my data stands. If my threads, account, and backend images are not permanently destroyed, you will face the DMCA and GDPR consequences, and your hosting providers will be officially notified of your piracy.
Do your job and purge my data.
György Istókovics (Bitu79)

> To Wendell and the Level1Techs Administration,
> This is a formal legal notice. You have placed my account on hold to censor my voice, yet you are actively refusing to delete my intellectual property and personal data from your platform and backend servers.
> Hiding my posts from the public frontend while continuing to host my images and content on your backend Linode servers constitutes intellectual property theft and unauthorized distribution of my copyrighted material.
> I have already filed a formal DMCA Takedown Notice through Cloudflare (Report #23425937). Your intentional refusal to remove my content makes you legally liable for copyright infringement. Furthermore, as a resident of the European Union, I am formally exercising my Right to Erasure under GDPR Article 17. You do not have my consent to retain, host, or display any of my posts, images, or account data.
> This is your final warning. You must physically and permanently purge every single thread, post, and backend image associated with my account (Bitu79) immediately.
> If you fail to completely delete my data within 24 hours, I will initiate formal legal proceedings against you for copyright theft and deliberate GDPR violations. I will also escalate the abuse reports directly to your hosting providers to have your services restricted for hosting pirated content.
> Stop playing games, comply with the law, and purge my data immediately.

Wendell,

This is your final notice regarding the unlawful retention of my content and personal data on Level1Techs.

Your refusal to delete my posts—opting instead for a fraudulent "anonymization" that still leaves my identifying information and quotes exposed—is a direct violation of GDPR Article 17 (Right to Erasure).

Furthermore, since you have officially banned me and terminated any agreement to host my content, keeping my technical threads and articles public because they carry "genuine value" and drive traffic to your website constitutes unauthorized commercial exploitation of copyrighted intellectual property (Copyright Infringement). You do not have a license to profit from my work against my explicit will.

You have two options:

1. Completely and permanently purge my account and ALL associated posts, comments, and threads from your database within 24 hours.
2. Refuse, and face formal DMCA takedown notices sent to your hosting provider/Cloudflare, along with formal escalation to NOYB and European Data Protection Authorities for willful GDPR non-compliance and copyright misuse.

The entire audit trail, including the video proof of your contact form submission, is permanently recorded.

Delete everything now.
